

“Orbs” The Next Phase of Contact

- By Carol Lawson

First came the UFO sightings, then the crop circles, and now the “orbs” are making their worldwide debut. Seen only as small lights in crop circles and spiritual gathering places in the beginning, they’re now appearing on digital photographs in everyone’s backyard. In our family it’s very difficult to take a photograph without them, day or night. But what are they?

Allow me to digress a bit to give you some background into my research of the “orb” phenomenon. I was contacted in September of 1988 by my family from the future, who are not inhabitants of Earth. This is my first public admission of having these encounters. I’ve written a book called “Stop Fearing Your Death”, which will be available in 2006, which describes my life with them since that time.

Within months of my first encounter, with the training I received, I was able to communicate telepathically with entities not only from other worlds and crafts, but with people who were departed from this world. I became what is called a spiritual medium (as opposed to a small or a large) and became very adept at moving through dimensions out of my body, as well as receiving information telepathically. After two and a half years of almost daily contact I was sent to a teacher named Ramtha, and have been a student of Ramtha's School of Enlightenment (RSE) in Yelm Washington for the past fifteen years.

The first "orbs" I ever saw were around my head in a picture taken seventeen years ago, there were three of them. The next time I saw them was when they appeared at RSE several years ago, just a few of them and some plasma in the beginning. I knew that Ramtha taught beings from many levels of existence simultaneously with we humans, but it was very exciting to start seeing them. From the moment I saw the first "orb" at school I started a private research project and have taken pictures of them almost every night since. I have a library of tens of thousands of photographs to date. At any event at our school now, there are thousands of them present.

My former ability to communicate with unseen entities opened up into a whole new dimension through my photography. The "orbs" have shown me incredible phenomenon, which I'm delighted to be able to share with you. So am I saying that these orbs of light are actually living beings, people, and extra terrestrials? Some are. They are also thought forms, mind projections, viewing portals from other dimensions, wormholes and observation craft.

To truly understand the "orbs" it's critical to understand at least a little bit about frequency and our holographic universe. We've all seen the chart in our high school science classes about the spectrum of frequencies. We're familiar with terms like ultraviolet, x-ray, and gamma ray and of course visible light, infrared and radio waves (which Ramtha calls “Hertzian after Heinrich Hertz, who first discovered radio waves). Do you also recall the little tiny narrow band of these frequencies that we can perceive through our senses? Very, very limited, miniscule compared to the broad expanse of the chart. Everything we can’t perceive, which is most of these frequencies, is invisible to us.

We’ve learned through science that other frequencies exist because we use radio and television waves, which are invisible to our eyes, to transfer information all over the world. Sonar, radar, and x-rays as well as the new light technologies in lasers are further proof that these other frequencies exist. Most of us have experienced holographic projections at Science Museums or from the movies. If you’ve been really fortunate, you’ve been able to walk around one of these projections and observe it from a 3D perspective.

Quantum Physics, in particular quantum mechanics has proven that even at the sub-atomic level, there are no solid particles. We live, in fact, in a universe of energy, or quantum potentials. So how do we make worlds, trees, our daily food, clothing and shelter if this is just quantum soup? The answer is the thought forms created through the dreams of every living organism (and even sub-atomic particles are sentient) imprinting an energy pattern, just like the holographic disc, through which the omniscient light of our individual spirit shines. The patterns, when interpreted by our brain, bring to life in glorious color, texture, and sound our living reality. In the beginning was not the word, it was and is the thought.

I’m attempting to make the very complex science of creation as simple as possible. Lets use the Holodeck on Star Trek as an example. Anyone from the Enterprise could go down to this large empty space and by selecting a holographic disc, create any reality they chose to experience. It was completely life like down to the foods they ate, the chairs they sat on, including other people they could interact with.

Each one of us has our own Holodeck, of which we are the Captain and Creator. This Holodeck exists from a few inches past the tips of our fingers, head and toes. Ramtha teaches that it is actually a series of frequency bandwidths from hertzian through infrared, visible light, ultra violet, x-ray, gamma ray into infinite unknown and the Void.

According to Ramtha, we have two sets of these bands, one close in around the edge of our body, which holds the molecular structure of our body from drifting into space, and another set out slightly farther, like the extended figure in Leonardo Da Vinci's sketches, arms and legs outstretched. It looks like a large circle, or cocoon, of rings of light.

Now, I'd like you to observe one of the "orb" photographs carefully and you will see that they are surrounded by bandwidths of light in rings; they're not just a solid light. This is exactly what you look like in your light form, a big "orb". You're identical in light structure form to these entities, with one difference, the one that determines your reality. Your physical body is vibrating at approximately the same frequency as the earth. Being the same frequency as your surroundings is what allows you that narrow bandwidth of perception of experience in this plane of existence. If you didn't vibrate at the same frequency as the earth, the chair, the table, or the flowers, you would pass right through them. It's having a common frequency that allows us the experience of our world, at about 8 Hz and rising. So we've created a body of the same frequency as the earth in which our soul and spirit can reside, a vehicle to have an adventure in. We can smell the flowers, watch a sunset, touch and be touched, and love and create here.

Lets take a look at the "orbs" in their light body, with their bands activated all around them. You'll notice that they're smaller than we are. The most brilliant races in our universe are so tiny their spacecraft could sit in the palm of your hand with lots of room to spare. That's what you are seeing with some of the "orbs". A being so tiny, that moves at such incredible speed, that only with a digital camera that flashes in 1/52,000 of a second can we freeze frame them enough to see their light body.

"Orbs", which are much more advanced in their understanding of space/time can slow down their frequencies and unfold here, or project a larger hologram of themselves in order to communicate with us. As their bands slow down, they ionize, actually "eating" our atmosphere, and create a cloud, or misty shaped plasma form, commonly called an apparition. We can see many of the craft in the sky that have formed a cloudlike shape around them because of this effect. We've also seen "ghosts" for eons that form this plasma. I've shown several pictures of my "orb" friends unfolding into plasma shapes around my husband and I and my grandchildren. This plasma can take on different colors depending on its frequency. "Orbs" may also show up as an unfolded light body similar to the picture of my grandson with the beautiful pinky gold entity standing behind him.

Lets take a look from the "orbs" perspective, a faster reality, at our slower one. To them we would look like we're standing still, barely moving for eons of their time. They could walk around us in a circle hundreds of times by the time we took one step, and we'd never see them. They can create a hologram around us that to us is completely real. Observing us through portals in frequency, or wormholes, for centuries of our development could happen in a forty-minute classroom in their reality.

"Orbs", our galactic family, have the technology to tune into any time/space frequency in history and see a whole segment of the earth's history, past or future, just as we watch a program on TV on a certain channel. I've had the privilege of viewing some of it with them on their ships. You see the "action" just as it was/is, as if you're there in 3D. All time is simultaneous, not linear like we currently perceive it. There's a lot of our history that isn't anything like what we were taught in school or church, not even close!

Distance is irrelevant once you understand time. It's a matter of frequency. There are civilizations that can send a ship from another universe to earth without ever leaving home. Quite a mind bender. Light years don't exist for them. Some of the unmanned observation ships, like the little one beside my husband's leg come from extreme distances to observe and gather data here.

Everyone in a higher frequency can see everything in a lower frequency, but not vice versa. Our "orb" friends in the unseen have observed everything any of us has thought, said or done for thousands of years. There's no privacy or secrets in these realms. This can be more than a little disconcerting at first. Downright embarrassing when you're sitting in the tub!

Our brains are extraordinary sender/receivers. They can receive every frequency in all of creation, they just need to be opened up and trained. Ramtha teaches that the mid brain picks up infrared; it's the psychic brain. The lower cerebellum is the brain that accesses the universal mind of God, which are all the higher frequencies and their realities. Students in his school learn how to access these areas of the brain. I can now see the "orbs" without needing a camera. Anyone can learn to do this because speed is relative. If our brain is receiving and processing information at the speed of gamma, we will be at the same speed as our brothers and sister there, and their worlds. We can see and communicate with them.

Some of the "orbs" we see are thought forms that we, or others have created. The form may be a manifestation coming into reality. They could be ten or twenty feet tall, encompassing someone as they lower their frequency through the bands. Every thought we think, all 57,000 of them every day (I don't know who counted), create a form that will alter our holographic pattern and enter our reality to be experienced. There's no such thing as an idle thought.

Some "orbs" that leave large patterns of color and shape are forms taking place in the fifth plane or higher, which our brain can't interpret yet. Lets say you laid a pencil on its side and only looked at the end of the eraser with the pencil lying away from you at eye level. You'd think that all that existed was a circle of rubber, when in fact there was an entire pencil there, but not on your plane of perception. There are dimensions that exist and share the same space as ours, only at a higher frequency that we don't normally perceive because they're outside the vector of our plane of perception. With the digital camera, we can catch glimpses of them. With persistent focus, we can train our brain to understand them.

The higher the frequency, the smaller the plane of reality will be. In actual fact, our large world is made up of all these universes of smaller sub-atomic worlds. Each one of our bodies is made up of millions of universes, filled with "orb" entities. So how did we get to this big, slow world? In Ramtha's version of the story, we followed a path of involution all the way from point zero, through the zero point field, down through realities on every level, slowing our soul's and spirit's frequency and creating slower and ever expanding planes of existence. We are the Creators, always have been. The Infinite Source, God, The Is, is what we create from. Thought is the blueprint of manifestation.

Also according to Ramtha, at the level of visible light, as the Big Bang occurred, polarity was created. Each one of us split our soul and spirit in two, one half to become the positive charge, one half to become the negative charge in order to continue our creation all the way to hertzian. The negatively charged half of the soul/spirit created a female body, the positively charged half of the same soul/spirit created a male body. By doing this, the evolution of creation was possible. There's no difference between men and women, they're the same soul/spirit, with an equal power to create, in a different costume for a specific purpose. Only belief in religious and social dogma created inequality.

There are “orbs” that are deceased humans. If you look at the big red ones in my pictures, they’re infrared beings. Infrared is the astral plane where we go immediately after death until we travel through the vortex tunnel to the light for a life review. This is also where we go in our astral bodies when we have an out of body experience. I have a theory that because half the world is asleep while the other half is awake, a lot of the infrared “orbs” I take pictures of are humans having out of body experiences.

Some of the “orbs” are mind projections. Some friends of mine in Ireland and I project our minds over certain landmarks in each other’s backyard and take pictures regularly to see when we’ve successfully “shown up”. We’ve done numerous experiments like this at RSE as well with quite thrilling results. Our mind is capable of going anywhere and knowing anything and feeding the information back to our brain. This is the basis of remote view.

I mentioned that we have two sets of seven frequency bands around our body. According to Ramtha’s model, we also have a body for each of the seven levels of reality. We all have an ultra-violet blue body, an x-ray body, and a gamma body. As we become more adept at interdimensional travel, we can access these other bodies and have experiences in any of these worlds of higher frequency. We will perhaps spend hundreds of years in another reality and come back and only one night will have elapsed here, but oh, the knowledge we now have!

I travel at night with my “orb” friends and they teach me. If you’re interested enough in cultivating their acquaintance, they’ll teach you too. Take your camera out each night, invite them to visit and click away. An inexpensive digital will do, just make sure you don’t have one that filters out infrared. Don’t be too serious, or think you have to get all “spiritual” and set up sacred alters, or pray and be pious, they don’t seem to like that at all. The more you laugh and have joy and are genuinely interested in communicating with them consistently, the more they’ll come to you. The more you focus on seeing them, the more you’re programming your brain that you want to see them, and after a while you will.

In Ramtha’s model there is no polarity above the third level (visible light). This is where what we call angels live. We were all angels before we jumped into the abyss of polarity where angels fear to tread. We’re light years more evolved than any angel. We’re the courageous ones (and some days I think the foolhardy ones!) that are making known the unknown at the lowest and slowest adventure of thought. This world and every other world in every parallel universe in existence is an adventure in consciousness we created for our soul and spirit to experience.

Our “orb” brothers and sisters from other worlds, dimensions, times and spaces are here now because it’s time to expand this sandbox and move on to a greater adventure. There are still those here who haven’t had enough of the lower expressions of this world, but move on we must, and will. The earth’s frequency is being raised, making the veils between the dimensions thin and permeable to minds that want the adventure.

“Be still and know that you are God”, Ramtha has taught me. Whatever we focus on we’ll receive information about. We can know any time or place in any of a hundred universes. When we, through focused desire, become more focused upon another frequency than this one here on earth, we’ll simply raise the frequency of our body into one of our other sets of bands, the Hertzian band will be absorbed and we’ll disappear (ascend) from here. We’re just travelers passing through. The “orbs” are here as a beautiful, non-threatening expression for everyone to see that there’s more under the sun, Horatio. This is the next step in contact with our galactic family. I bless you all on your journey, my beloved brothers and sisters and “may the “orbs” be with you”!
